

Characteristics of China's investment market

Heidy Evelyn Romero Chavez

Abstract

The People's Republic of China has been in a process of internationalization of its markets and currency during the past years, which has become attractive for international investors. The document analyses the most important technical and fundamental aspects of the investment market in China, the economy, the fundamentals of its productive development, its political situation and currency. Also, the structure of its debt market, onshore and offshore, is analyzed.

Keywords: China, onshore, offshore, renminbi, People's Bank of China, CNY, CNH